

Critter Guard, Inc., was founded in 2000. We are a small business headquartered in Columbia, MO. Our two primary products are the Line Guard and Pole Guard. Both are designed with the utility company, homeowner and preservation of wildlife in mind. The focus of our products are to deter squirrels, roof rats and other rodents from gaining access, via the overhead powerlines, to power stations and homes where they inflict costly roof and transformer damages and cause power outages.

The Critter Guard product line consist of: Line Guard , Pole Guard and Raptor Guard , all of these systems are defined by one characteristic – no access

. These products are designed for years of service in all weather conditions. We are proud of the durability and performance of this unique product line - Injection molded of heavy-duty polypropylene, highly resistant to environmental stress cracking and weathering, and of course

UV protection to maintain color quality.
